

Weisenberger Quits As Engineer Registration On Final Day Hits 400

Lawler Names Farley To Fill Post

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17 (AP)—Arthur J. Weisenberger resigned today as chief engineer in the State Highway Department.

Joseph J. Lawler, highways secretary, announced the resignation, to become effective immediately, and at the same time appointed R. A. Farley, of Scranton, as acting chief engineer.

Farley was assistant chief engineer in charge of construction. Lawler said Weisenberger gave up the $15,000-a-year post which he held for a year by appointment of Gov. Leader in order to return to his private engineering firm in Allentown.

Prior to coming to Harrisburg, Weisenberger served as northeast Pennsylvania district engineer with headquarters at Allentown from March 1955.

In his office as district engineer, he was in charge of Monroe, Lehigh, Carbon, Northampton, Schuylkill and Berks Counties.

Dulles Flies To Crucial Conference

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles flew today toward a crucial conference at London, banking on dollars and diplomacy to avoid a shooting scrap with Egypt over the future of the Suez Canal.

Dulles held a last-minute conference with President Eisenhower, then met briefly with French Ambassador Herve Alphand before he took off from National Airport at 2:53 p.m.

He told reporters at the White House:

1. The United States is dedicated to solving the Suez dilemma "by peaceful means."
2. However, the United States will not accept any infringement on the rights of users of the canal, nationalized by Egypt July 26.
3. "We are not trying to organize any boycott of the canal."

Dulles said the United States "cannot be blind" to the danger of a slowdown in canal traffic, now that most of the non-Egyptian canal pilots have quit their jobs.

Plan

But he said he will seek at London a plan to bring "satisfactory operating arrangements."

At the airport, Dulles said the only U. S. financial aid planned in the Suez crisis would come from the Export-Import Bank in loans to help export U. S. oil to Western Europe.

The secretary said he knew nothing about reports the United States was ready to make available a half billion dollars in loans to help canal users send their ships around the southern tip of Africa rather than through the Suez shortcut.

Four Negroes Barred At Clay

By The Associated Press

A CRITICAL situation at the Clay, Ky., Consolidated School eased Monday with the barring of four Negro students.

White students began returning to classes after a county school board order banning the Negroes was read on the school steps. About 150 white pupils of the 590 that have been boycotting the school returned to classes.

An attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said suit would be filed, probably tomorrow, in federal court at Owensboro, seeking reinstatement of the four Negroes in the Clay School.

But Mrs. James Gordon, mother of two of the children who lead the integration fight, said her children would not return immediately even if an injunction is granted.

Duff Raps Affiliation Of Clark

NEW CASTLE, Sept. 17 (AP)—Sen. James H. Duff, seeking reelection, said in a campaign speech tonight that his Democratic opponent, Joseph S. Clark, "is one of the national officers of the Americans for Democratic Action."

Duff told a Lawrence County GOP rally the ADA stands for financial aid to Communist China, and world government.

"I hope the people of Pennsylvania during this campaign get to know accurately what the program of the ADA is," Duff said.

The GOP candidate declared that Clark "has been going all over the State of Pennsylvania falsifying my voting record in Washington," adding:

Record

"In the first two sessions of the Congress of the Eisenhower Administration my attendance was 16 per cent greater than Kefauver. In the second session it was 35 per cent greater than Kefauver x x x."

Duff's references were to Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, Democratic candidate for vice president.

"Some of the things it (the ADA) stands for," Duff said, "are financial aid to Communist China and you might as well give financial aid to Khrushchev and Bulganin. No. 2, it stands for inevitable recognition of Communist or Red China; No. 3, the ADA stands for world government in order to get peace."

This afternoon a regional meeting of the Council of Republican Women was held with representatives of 12 western Pennsylvania counties attending.

Three GOP candidates for state office addressed tonight's rally, Charles Smith, candidate for auditor general; Robert Kent, candidate for state treasurer, and G. Harold Watkins, candidate for Superior court.

Tomorrow the GOP campaigners will go to Butler and Beaver Counties.

Russian Discus Throwing Returns To Headlines

LONDON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The case of the missing Russian discus thrower, almost forgotten in the Suez crisis, zoomed back into the news tonight.

High government officials were reported to be reviewing the case of Nina Ponomareva, who is believed still in London.

An informed source intimated that the case against Nina, who skipped ball after being charged with stealing five cheap hats from a London store, may be dropped.

Nina is believed to still be enjoying the diplomatic sanctuary of the Soviet Embassy.

FBI Searching For Dress Executive

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The FBI and the district attorney's office disclosed today they are searching for a dressmaking executive, Theodore Riel, in the acid-blasting of columnist Victor Riesel.

The FBI declined to go beyond information on its "wanted" poster, which described the 43-year-old Riel and warned that he "may be armed and should be considered extremely dangerous."

Asst. Dist. Atty. Agilred J. Scott, head of Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan's rackets bureau here, later disclosed his office also is looking for Riel.

Associate

He described Riel as a "close associate" of John (Johnny) Dio Dioguardi, alleged ringleader of seven men already indicted in the attack on Riesel.

The FBI said Riel is wanted on the same charge lodged against Dio and the others—a conspiracy to obstruct justice through the April 8 attack on Riesel.

Riesel, the FBI flyer said, was about to testify in a probe on alleged labor racketeering.

The man believed to be the actual acid-thrower, Abraham Tevel, was found shot to death July 28. Authorities said he was slain because he demanded more money for the job when he found out his victim was Riesel.

Missing

Officials here indicated Riel may have been one of Dio's bodyguards, and U. S. Attorney Paul Williams said Riel was "believed to be the driver of an auto which class and W. W. Waller Jr., president of the White Citizens Council said the boycott would be more complete tomorrow.

Meanwhile, a Negro ex-soldier, John O. Lyon, 23, became the first of his race to enroll at the Gaston, N.C., Technical Institute, a branch of the University of North Carolina. Some white students complained, one telling a reporter: "If I'd known he was coming I wouldn't have come."

Vote

In Atlanta, the Georgia Board of Education voted to withhold state funds for the salary of a Gwinnett County teacher, Mrs. Colleen Marie Wiggins, who declined to sign a statement disapproving of racial integration in schools. Mrs. Wiggins recently reported she faces loss of her job unless she signs such a statement.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, in a TV interview in Washington, said "great progress" is being made in integrating schools.

Argument developed over the educational capabilities of Negroes. Dr. Frank C. J. McGurk, associate professor psychology at Villanova, writing in a Washington weekly magazine, said Negroes as a group do not possess as much capacity for education as do white people.

His statements were challenged by Roy Wilkins, New York, executive secretary of the NAACP. Wilkins said tests in World War II showed that while the scores of Negroes nationally were below those of whites, Northern Negroes averaged as well or better than Southern whites.

Willow Grove Man Killed In Accident At Wind Gap

WIND GAP—A 19-year-old Willow Grove girl was listed in satisfactory condition last night at Easton Hospital where she was being treated for injuries suffered late Sunday night in auto mishap here which claimed the life of the 20-year-old driver.

Wind Gap Police identified the victim as Howard R. Cream, of Willow Grove, RD 1, who suffered a skull fracture when his station wagon failed to negotiate a sharp curve on Route 115 and slammed into a utility pole near the northern edge of Wind Gap.

A companion, Claire Gordon, 19, also of Willow Grove, RD 1, suffered severe facial cuts, police said.

Navy Veteran

Cream, a Navy veteran, was traveling south apparently at a high rate of speed, police said, when it failed to negotiate a sweeping curve to the right while going downhill on the wet, foggy highway.

The vehicle crossed to the left side of the road, glanced off a utility pole, veered back, striking the curb on the right side of the road, police said. Then it rolled over before coming to a halt in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lambert on the east side of Upper Broadway.

Police said Cream was thrown from the vehicle and was found by the Lamberts lying on the highway by the front door on the driver's side. Miss Gordon was found lying across the front seat.

The victims were taken to Easton Hospital by the Wind Gap ambulance, while Wind Gap firemen flushed gas and oil from the road.

Spot

A plane spotted the second body today and the Norwegian destroyer Tromsø plucked it from the sea in the area where the freighter went down. Cmdr. Alf Tenvik, aboard the destroyer, said the man's identity was not determined. He appeared to be between 35 and 40 years old and was heavily tattooed.

Dispute

Democrats dispute this. They also take issue with Hickenlooper's contention, which the senator voiced to Eisenhower, that there is "a general uprising in the farm economy."

The Agriculture Department reported during the day that net farm income for the July-September quarter appears likely to be around 9 per cent higher than in the corresponding period last year. In a monthly report, the department said net income for the quarter could well attain an annual rate of 12 billion dollars compared with a rate of 11 billion dollars during the similar period last year.

Hickenlooper attributed the general uprising, as he called it, largely to portions of Eisenhower's farm program that have gone into effect. He said specifically the soil bank plan, gasoline tax exemption for farming vehicles, and consolidation of farm credit agencies "have been of tremendous benefit to the farmer and to the whole farm economy."

Eisenhower talked with Hickenlooper after conferring with his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, who has advised him on practical farm matters as well as other subjects.

Appearance

The President flies to Iowa Friday for an appearance at the National Field Days and plowing contest at Newton. The visit obviously is geared to emphasize his interest in the agricultural situation which is not regarded by politicians generally as nearly so bright as Hickenlooper pictured it.

Eisenhower will make a major farm speech, his second formal address of the campaign, at Peoria, Ill., on Sept. 25.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17 (AP)—The trial of 36-year-old Frank J. Ellisworth of Tampa, Fla., and Memphis, Tenn., accused of strangling an elderly widow and robbing her of $200,000, began today in Common Pleas Court.

The state has disclosed it will seek the death penalty for Ellisworth in connection with the murder of Mrs. Lulubel H. Rossman in a center city hotel in July, 1955.

Convicted

Ellisworth's alleged accomplice in the slaying and robbery, Raymond P. Wilson, 33, of Tulsa, Okla., was convicted last May after a six week trial and sentenced to life imprisonment.

200 Invade Office Near Final Hour

THE LIGHTS were burning brightly in the Monroe County Commissioners office late last night as more than 200 voters sought to beat the deadline to register for the Nov. 6 general elections.

At 8:50 p.m., more than 30 residents were waiting in line outside the commissioners' office. After the 9 p.m. closing time, a few more last-minute arrivals opened the courthouse door.

Those seeking to enroll were accommodated by a five-member staff, headed by Chief Clerk H. Ray Saunders.

Estimate

Board Chairman John R. Lesoine estimated that some 400 persons registered at the courthouse yesterday—about 200 during the day, and the rest at night.

Lesoine also reported that, as of last Saturday, a total 1,708 persons enrolled at special registration sessions conducted in the county.

A breakdown showed that, of this number, 868 indicated they preferred the Democratic party, while 780 enrolled as Republicans. There were also 41 Independents and 19 non-partisans enrolled, as of last Saturday.

Leader Denies Statement By Summerfield

OMAHA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield tonight in a press conference called on Adlai Stevenson "to request the proper legal authorities in the state of Pennsylvania to immediately investigate the shameful misuse of state funds by the Democrat Pennsylvania organization."

Summerfield read from a story in the Sunday Philadelphia Inquirer which said "obviously" address plates of the department of revenue of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Highway Safety had been used in mailing solicitation letters to auto inspection stations in the state.

Stevenson Disagrees With Truman

By The Associated Press

ADLAI STEVENSON expressed polite but pointed disagreement with former President Truman Monday on the issues of Alger Hiss and "legal racketeers" in the Eisenhower administration. He also issued a general attack on GOP foreign and domestic policies.

President Eisenhower heard an optimistic report on Republican chances in the farm belt this November. He was quoted as saying the GOP would "carry the facts" to the voters in a vigorous campaign.

In other developments:

"Truth Squad"

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall announced two senators and two congressmen have been assigned to a "truth squad" to follow Democratic speechmakers. Hall called the assignment "an all-out effort to correct the misrepresentations and distortions being spread by the Democrats."

Estes Kefauver, Democratic nominee for vice president, accused the Republicans of betraying "the farmers' faith and the farmers' loyalty" and pledged the Democrats to give the farmers what Kefauver called "a full and fair share of the national income."

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said Communism and Alger Hiss "will be an issue" in the campaign.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17 (AP)—The state administration today dismissed Edward P. McBreen, 48, from his $7,800-a-year post as controller of the Pennsylvania State Police.

Col. E. J. Henry, State Police Commissioner, confirmed that McBreen had been dismissed after 26 years service with the state police.

figured . . . in the acid hurling."

It was learned Riel has been missing from his usual haunts since Tevel's body was found.

The FBI said that among the aliases he has used are "Teddy Ray," "Theodore Harris Ray" and "Skinny." He weighs about 240 pounds, the flyer said.

The FBI flyer referred to Riel only as a "dressmaking executive." But later the FBI here described him as an officer and executive of the Acme Dress Co., at Midvale, N. J.

Big Three Nations Reportedly Set To Propose Sending Of 'Guinea Pig' Convoy To Suez

LONDON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Western Big Three tonight were reported ready to propose to the Suez users' conference here the sending of a "guinea pig" convoy to the canal to see if Egyptian President Nasser will allow its passage.

In the background, if he refused, would be a threat of a boycott of the canal by the world's principal maritime nations, coupled with a widened and tightened economic squeeze on Egypt.

Diplomatic informants said this line of strategy would be laid before the Suez users' conference summoned to meet here Wednesday.

Acceptances were on hand from 17 of the 18 nations invited. Ethiopia alone had not been heard from, but was expected to attend. Spain accepted today.

Back Plan

The 18 nations are the ones which backed the plan at a mid-August conference of 22 countries for international operation of the canal, only to have it rejected by Nasser when it was carried to Cairo by Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies.

The diplomatic informants made clear Nasser's refusal to let the test convoy pass through the canal, which he nationalized July 26, could be followed by prompt reference of the dispute to the U. N. Security Council. He has already denounced the plan for a users' association as a "declaration of war."

Letters

The story referred to letters soliciting purchases of $50 tickets for a dinner at which Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, made a nationwide TV address from Harrisburg, Pa.

Summerfield, a former Republican national chairman, said the "Democrat Pennsylvania gang . . . recently allegedly shook down state employees for $50 dinner tickets to pay for Stevenson's TV appearance and used the address plates of the Bureau of Highway Safety for this purpose."

At his Indian town Gap, Pa., summer residence, Gov. George M. Leader told a newsmen: "Summerfield obviously doesn't know what he is talking about."

"It's obvious he doesn't know what he is talking about or he wouldn't have couched the statement in such language."

Leader referred to Summerfield's use of the word "allegedly" in speaking of reports of employees being shaken down.

"His statement is a Nixonism sort of thing," Leader said, "the kind of a statement that he probably will be denying in a month or two."

In a written statement, Summerfield also said "I call upon candidate Stevenson to take off his false face and to return to the principles he advocated four years ago."

In 1952, the postmaster general declared, Stevenson said "it is better to lose the election than to mislead the people and we offer you no pie in the sky."

Reports

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, who fathered the proposed Suez users' association, drew back from previous authoritative reports in Washington that he was bringing an offer of a half billion dollars to users to finance a boycott of the canal.

But, after a conference with President Eisenhower, he said the United States was prepared to help finance through the Export-Import Commission of American oil if transit through the canal is blocked or reduced.

At the canal itself, 4 of the 15 Russian sea captains began trying to help fill the void left by a walkout of about 100 foreign pilots. The four Russians started their training on ships gliding southward through the tricky currents. They were given hasty lectures on canal regulations and signals. Then they took their places in the watch beside regular pilots.

With most foreign pilots and technicians out of the way, the canal was entirely under Egyptian management for the first time in its 87-year history.

Though traffic had slowed down slightly there was nothing to suggest any major pile-up of shipping at the canal approaches was in sight.

McBreen Loses Police Post

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17 (AP)—The state administration today dismissed Edward P. McBreen, 48, from his $7,800-a-year post as controller of the Pennsylvania State Police.

Col. E. J. Henry, State Police Commissioner, confirmed that McBreen had been dismissed after 26 years service with the state police.

BEATING THE DEADLINE: This is only a sampling of the Monroe County residents who thronged to the courthouse in Stroudsburg last night to beat the deadline for registering in the Nov. 6th general elections. Clark Takes Issue With Senate Foe

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 17 (AP)—Joseph S. Clark Jr., Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, said tonight his Republican opponent, Sen. James H. Duff, and the Eisenhower Administration have failed to represent the interests of Pennsylvania's small businessmen.

"The number of business failures in 1955 was 44 per cent higher than in 1952, the last year the Democrats were in office," Clark said. "Big business profits went up 61 per cent between 1952 and 1955 while the profits of small business went down 52 per cent in the same period, the first years of the Eisenhower Administration."

Rally

Clark made the remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at a Democratic rally and in a 15-minute telecast over WICU-TV. He is making a campaign swing through the western part of the state. Earlier in the day he appeared at Oil City and Franklin.

In Oil City, Clark told a political gathering that Duff "spent six years in the Senate without sponsoring one major bill of importance to Pennsylvania."

Clark also charged that Duff "was absent 37 per cent of the time at important roll call votes his first five years in office."

"He voted in favor of a Dixon-Yates giveaway to favor the big power interests, but against the oil-for-education amendment to the offshore oil bill. That amendment could have provided millions of dollars to build badly needed classrooms in Pennsylvania, to raise college scholarships aid to deserving boys and girls," Clark added.

People In Two States Disturbed

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
I HAVE just returned from two weeks in North Carolina and Virginia. Many people in both states were greatly disturbed.

They were disturbed for different reasons, all centering around the Supreme Court ruling against racial segregation in the public schools.

Some are less disturbed than others. These are the ones who say that integration is immoral, unsanitary, unnecessary, that it can't work, and that they wouldn't permit it to work if it could. Their minds are immune to either pressure or change.

Other End
At the other end of the spectrum are the white liberals who believe integration must take place here and now, that a law is a law and cannot be administered by degrees, and the like-thinking National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

In the middle are the most seriously disturbed. They fall into many classifications.

There are those whose inborn fear of and prejudice against the Negro conflict with a likewise inborn respect for the teachings of Christianity.

There are those who realize that economic and educational discrimination against the Negro act as serious brakes on the economic progress of the South, of which they are very proud. They want to see the Negro progress as a consumer. But they want the educational and social steps of that progress to begin with somebody else's children.

I saw a young woman who was reared in the public school system of New York City, where toleration of minorities is a necessity of daily living. She does not believe that one man is superior or inferior to another because of race, color or creed, or because of the previous servitude of his ancestors. But now she lives in a little Virginia town, and she does not want Negroes, who would be in the majority, admitted to the room with her second-grader, or with her 4-year-old when he goes.

The little Negroes, she fears, are too wise and too uninhibited about the facts of life. Their parents, she fears, are unprepared for participation in the "Parent-Teacher Assn." and too prone to follow the leadership of outside agitators, unfamiliar with local situations.

It Will Come
When told that it will come some day, regardless, and asked how the Negro parents of that day are to be prepared unless it is begun with the children now, she looks sad, as though she wished for the accomplishment without the prenatal pains.

This wishful waiting attitude is strong throughout the South today. North Carolina has just passed a measure, and Virginia is considering similar ones, by which it is hoped the Supreme Court decision can be vitiated, for a while. Both states are extremely proud of fine public school systems. But they are working on plans by which public schools, threatened with integration through federal court orders, might be closed in favor of state subsidies for pupils in private schools.

Some proponents of such measures express the hope and belief that no such thing will happen. Some even admit they are stalling.

But Chapel Hill, seat of North Carolina's liberal state university, was the only community with enough disturbed people to vote against it.

The concerts are open to members only and no tickets to individual concerts are available, she announced, and also stressed the fact that no memberships will be sold after the close of the campaign this Saturday at 5 p. m.

Intensive work on the part of all volunteer workers and prompt response from those interested in fine music will secure the success of this season's concerts, she promised.

Corn Nears State Record

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17 (AP)—Federal-state surveys today placed the estimated Pennsylvania corn production for 1956 as of Sept. 1 at a near record 72,655,000 bushels.

The figure is 71,000 short of the 1919 record. Good growing conditions were credited for the bumper crop which is expected to produce a record 55 bushels an acre yield.

Frost
If frost holds off for another 10 days the yield may approach 60 bushels an acre, the survey said.

Between Aug. 1 and Sept. 1 the official corn estimate was increased over million bushels.

Fire Causes Estimated $25,000 Damage At Kunkletown Farm

1,500 Chickens Perish In Barn Blaze

KUNKLETOWN — Some 1,500 White Leghorns were lost Sunday night as a fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn on the farm of August Kuhnbecker, Kunkletown RD 1.

Kuhnbecker estimated his loss at $25,000.

Firefighters from three companies worked all night to control the blaze, which was discovered about 10:45 p.m. Sunday by Kuhnbecker's 16-year-old daughter, Janice. Kunkletown volunteers were called back again yesterday afternoon and last night as the smoldering remains were fanned into flame by the winds.

Although hampered by a lack of water, the firemen were able to save another barn and the Kuhnbecker home.

Roof Falls

However, by the time they arrived, the roof of the barn had already caved in, and was alive with flames. Besides the poultry, more than 100 tons of baled hay, 10 tons of straw and between 250 and 300 bushels of barley were lost in the blaze.

Farm equipment and the milk house also were destroyed.

Kuhnbecker and a neighbor were able to lead 21 head of cattle to safety.

Kuhnbecker said his daughter had just gone upstairs after working on her homework when she spotted the building ablaze. Mrs. Kuhnbecker immediately called the Kunkletown Fire Department, headed by Chief Lewis Pysker, while her husband sought to save the stock.

Firement

A short time later the Kunkletown volunteers arrived on the scene. They were later joined by West End and Townsensing firefighters. At one time, more than 50 men and six pieces of equipment were battling the blaze.

Chief Pysker said water was pumped from a small farm pond and a small stream. However, the supply was inadequate to fight a blaze of such proportions.

Yet firemen were able to save the other barn, located some 40 feet away, which was smoking when they arrived.

Kuhnbecker said the blaze was under control about 5 a.m. But some members of the Kunkletown company stayed until 9 yesterday morning. At 4 p.m., they were called back, and responded to another alarm last night.

The owner estimated the damage as $10,000 to the contents, and $15,000 to the building itself. Kuhnbecker said the pullets were valued at $2.50 each, while the older hens were valued at somewhat less.

Gettysburg Motorist Killed

CARLISLE, Pa., Sept. 17 (AP)—A Gettysburg motorist was killed and a truck driver was injured early today in a head-on collision between an auto and a tractor-trailer on Route 11 two miles east of Carlisle.

Coroner Edward A. Haegle of Cumberland County said Jack Fenton Harpster, 26, was killed instantly in the crash. Admitted to the Carlisle Hospital for treatment of a possible broken ankle was Robert Lee Sweigart, 28, of Palmyra, R.D. 1.

Haegle said Harpster was driving west about 5 a.m. today when his car went out of control. It sideswiped a mail truck driven by Mrs. Lois Ann McCurdy, 32, of Shippensburg R.D. 2, then her car swerved into the opposing lane of traffic and crashed into the tractor-trailer driven by Sweigart. Mrs. McCurdy was not injured.

Most Concerns Favor Keystone Shortway Construction

"HOW DOES your establishment feel about the construction of the Keystone Shortway?" This was the question put to some 450 industries located in 24 counties within 25 miles of the proposed superhighway between Stroudsburg and Sharon.

Usable replies were received from 336 plants, according to Dr. Roger B. Saylor and Dr. Earl P. Strong, who conducted a feasibility survey for the Keystone Shortway Turnpike Association.

More than 60 per cent (204) said they definitely wanted the Shortway, 38 per cent (128) said they had no strong feelings and less than one per cent (three) were definitely opposed.

"These results leave no doubt concerning the wishes of the responding officials from the majority of the establishments which responded," said Dr. Saylor and Dr. Strong in their report. (Seven of the replies were received from Monroe County plants. Five definitely favor the turnpike and two expressed indifference.)

One of the three opposed is located close to the western end of the Pennsylvania Turnpike and another manufactures equipment for a competing mode of transportation, so their position is understandable, the Penn State University professors said.

"There is no way in which reliable interpretations can be made of the responses when indicate no strong feelings," they added. "In some cases they would benefit but little from it because their shipments flow in directions which would not permit their using the new turnpike.

Some probably do not fully realize what it would mean to them to have this turnpike built, but they might find it extremely useful once it was constructed.

By studying the responses and the remarks accompanying some of them, one gets the feeling that many of the respondents had never before given any serious thoughts as to possible meaning of this road to their establishments."

At least part of the indifference was attributed to the feeling among some industrialists questioned that the Shortway would operate as a toll road. Under present plans, it would be limited access freeway built under the federal interstate plan. The state pays only 10 per cent of the costs and the federal government the balance under this program.

The consultants surveyed the industries to determine their present feelings concerning the economic effects of the Shortway. A later story in this series will deal with the turnpike and new industrial development.

Bangor Area Joint School To Form Music Boosters Club

BANGOR—The organization of a Music Boosters Club for Bangor Area Joint High School has been jointly announced by Kenneth Fritz, instrumental instructor and music supervisor and Miss K. Mae Eichenbach, instructor in vocal music.

In an effort to carry out the principle of "Music for Every Child," the music department of the Area Schools is endeavoring to provide music for the talented child; the retarded child; the young child and the older child. In keeping with this program, instrumental instruction covers presently the senior band, the prep band and the elementary school or beginners' band. Members of these organizations are being trained in classroom instruction by members of the music department in cooperation with area instrumental instructors.

The area of vocal music is now being given a much greater lift in the fact that students of all schools from the fifth grade up are given the opportunity to sing in choruses. In the elementary field, a seventy member chorus has been active at the Columbus Elementary School the past year. This year a mixed chorus of some one hundred and sixty boys and girls has been recruited at the Junior High School level covering grades seventh through nine. In the Senior High School, grades 10 through 12, a mixed chorus of one hundred and twenty five was organized last year along with the Harmonettes, six singing girls and the Orpheus Club, a group composed of some 45 girls.

In the other elementary schools various musical organizations such as round singing groups and instrumental groups have been in operation for some time.

Now in an effort to widen the opportunity of music education, and its opportunities, the Band Mothers Club has been disbanded and the organization of the Music Boosters Club initiated.

Purpose

The purposes of the club have been announced as threefold. They are to arouse and maintain an enthusiastic interest in the various phases of the Music Department of the Bangor Area Schools; to lend all possible support, both moral and financial, to the general music program in the schools; and to cooperate with those in charge of the music department and the Joint School Committee to the end that this department be brought to and kept at the highest degree of efficiency. To build and maintain an organization which will help promote the general activities of the music department.

A special meeting of all interested parents, relatives and friends of music has been called for Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m., in the high school auditorium. Plans have also been announced that will guarantee continued meetings of the organization to be affected on the first Tuesday of each successive month, during the school year.

The first night's program will include entertainment by the Senior Band of the high school; the election of officers for the organization; a cake walk and an auction. Plans have also been made to send letters home with students inviting all interested persons to become a member of the organization. These will be distributed within the next several days.

Industrial Growth Aired At Bangor

BANGOR—The hard facts of industrial growth for the State Belt area were released to the steering committee of the State Belt Development Corp. at a meeting in the Metropolitan Edison Co. headquarters here last night.

The report was made by William J. Jamieson, industrial area development director of the General Public Utilities Commission of New York City.

Jamieson said that there were four essentials that the State Belt area must realize if its economic stature is to grow. These follow:

1. Prepare the community to receive industry.
2. Sell the potential labor force that is available in the area.
3. Get ready to receive industry.
4. Sell the economic needs of the entire area.

He reviewed the recent surveys made of the State Belt that have indicated 70 per cent of the male employables now have secured a means of livelihood outside the State Belt.

Jamieson said this is a "clear indication" of the severity of the need of this area for industry that can hire the available manpower. He further stated the type of industry evidently needed was of a heavy nature, from which a weekly income of more than $100.00 should be realized.

Driver Hits Parked Auto

A CAR operated by Paul Possinger, 47, of 402 King St., East Stroudsburg, last night crashed into another vehicle parked in front of 225 N. Ninth St., in Stroudsburg.

Possinger told borough police the accident occurred when another car forced him into the parked vehicle, owned by Joseph Sobinski, of 296 Lincoln Ave., as he was traveling south on N. Ninth St.

Possinger went all the way to Snyder's in an effort to catch up with the motorist that reportedly forced him into the other car, police said. When he failed, he returned to Stroudsburg and reported the mishap to police.

Union Groups Eager To Merge

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17 (AP)—Leaders of the state branches of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations contend the groups are "eager" for merger.

Harry Boyer, president of the State CIO Council, said meetings between the groups have been "amicable" and it is only a matter of time before the merger becomes reality.

Gilbert Boy Suffers Poliomyelitis

GILBERT—Seven-year-old Dale Allen Kresge, of Gilbert, is undergoing treatment for poliomyelitis at St. Luke's Hospital, Fountain Hill.

He was admitted last Friday after his left arm became paralyzed. His illness was diagnosed yesterday as paralytic polio. The hospital reported his condition was good.

Family

Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kresge. He received his first Salk vaccine inoculation more than a year ago at the time another local boy contracted polio.

The boy never received his second and third shots and the lone inoculation afforded him only temporary rather than permanent immunity from polio, according to Dr. John Martucci.

The physician advised parents to be sure their children receive anti-polio shots without delay. The Salk vaccine is administered free of charge to all children whose parents cannot afford to pay for the shots.

Survey Emphasizes Advantages Of Shortway In National Scene

Readers of The Daily Record are well acquainted with the various arguments presented on behalf of efforts here and elsewhere to win approval for the Keystone Shortway, a limited access freeway that would cross Northern Pennsylvania between Stroudsburg and Sharon.

One point that has not been emphasized too strongly until just now is that the proposed highway would benefit the nation as a whole, not merely the northern half of this state.

This is a potent argument for proponents to use in winning U.S. Bureau of Public Roads approval for constructing the Shortway under the federal government's interstate highway network program.

A careful analysis of the economic significance of the proposed road was made by Dr. Roger B. Saylor and Dr. Earl P. Strong, both of the College of Business Administration at the Pennsylvania State University.

The two men reached their conclusion that the Shortway would be economically feasible after making a thorough study of answers to questionnaires sent out to industrial and business concerns, including resorts, and considering many other factors pertaining to the traffic potential that would use the new road.

There is no direct, high-speed highway between New York City and Chicago, the nation's most populous and largest industrial cities, the Penn State consultants found. Furthermore, it developed there is no means of rapid land transportation between most of Northern Pennsylvania and the centers of population in the Middle West and on the Atlantic Seaboard.

"The Keystone Shortway Turnpike could very effectively meet both of these needs since it will cross Northern Pennsylvania just about on the straight line between New York and Chicago," the survey report noted in its conclusion.

Besides providing the shortest overland route between New York and Chicago, the study showed the east-west superhighway would boost the tourist trade, promote population increases, provide industrial access and provide a vital national emergency highway for supply and evacuation to and from major cities.

The benefits of the Shortway, the consultants declared, "would accrue to the nation as a whole since this would be the shortest connecting link by land between the great industrial areas of the seaboard and the Middle West.

"Benefits would accrue to Pennsylvania because the most neglected part of the state transportation-wise would finally be readily accessible to these great industrial areas."

These conclusions, together with others, should weigh heavily in favor of the Shortway when the decision to allocate federal funds is handed down. Local interests should continue their activity in promoting the highway. It is important that we keep at this program until it is finally achieved.

Pupils Must Learn By Trial-Error As Well As By Affirmative Thinking

Maybe, without remotely intending to do so, a progressive educator at Columbia University the other day said a real mouthful about one of the causes of juvenile delinquency. Punishment by a teacher, he said destroys a child's ability to learn. Don't point out his mistakes, he advises, just "acknowledge his correct responses."

What happens when all or most of the pupil's responses are incorrect? How's he to know anything is incorrect if he isn't told?

After all, there are a few absolutes left. All the solicitude in the world of educational theorists for the youthful ego doesn't make two and two equal five, or alter the spelling of "cat" to "kat."

This is an absurd oversimplification, we agree. But basically, we think, it's a sound illustration. The philosophical basis of too-progressive education is that whatever works, or seems to work, is right, whether it squares with old values and the lessons of experience, or not.

To inculcate affirmative thinking is all to the good. But when this is practiced to the extent that gross and palpable error is ignored it becomes an overdose of a virtue.

It is no favor to any youngster to give him the impression that everything he does is right. That's the end result of "acknowledging only correct responses."

Angus Ward's Testimony Recalls Exchange With State Department Official In 1945

Angus Ward is an American career diplomat who has had one of the most distinguished posts in China, Russia and environs. He was arrested when the Chinese Communists seized Manchuria for no other reason than that he was the representative of the American Government in Mukden. He was incarcerated, made to suffer and when released was expelled from China.

In the course of recent testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security, Angus Ward told of a conference in the State Department in January, 1945, where he expressed this view:

"And at that time, of course, like everybody else, I had my ideas. My opinion of that at that time, from indications within the Soviet Union and from the tendency of Moscow to follow expansionist ideas that went back long before the (Bolshevik) Revolution, was that the Soviet Union in Europe would not be content with anything short of a line approximately running from the Baltic to the Adriatic. . . . Ward protected the name of the Higher State Department official to whom he made the statement. However, he did say that that official . . . expressed his amazement, in fact he said he was astounded that I could speak of one of our allies and that in so speaking I was a disloyal American."

This colloquy follows: "Mr. Morris. What did you do when he made that statement?" "Mr. Ward. I picked up my hat and left his room."

It is interesting to note that the line Ward described is exactly that of the Molotov-Ribbentrop Pact and is the line that Soviet Russia held at the end of World War II.

It is a pity that Angus Ward's sense of loyalty to the State Department prevented him from telling us this higher official was, although it is possible to reconstruct from the context of his testimony who it was. That, however, would have to be a guess and the official, who is now serving in Europe, could say that he is not the man. But if my guess is right, this official was generally wrong about China and Russia as the events proved and he always got himself promoted for being wrong, which is a wonderful thing to behold.

There is another section of Angus Ward's testimony which I found particularly interesting because there has been a great propaganda to the contrary. Ward said:

"Well, the Chinese Communists were just beginning to gather strength, because throughout many years there had been the Communist movement in China, but it was hampered a great deal because of lack of equipment, lack of munitions. When the Russians came in and overpowered the wandering Kwantung Army (the best Japanese Army), the Red Chinese Army, as it was known in those days . . . fell heir to the tremendous quantities of military supplies — munitions and so forth."

Then he added:

" . . . When the Red Army troops withdrew, instead of withdrawing in an orderly planned withdrawal, the withdrawal was made so that in every instance the first Chinese military body to gain access to the point being evacuated was the Chinese Communist Army. The Chinese Communists naturally seized all this equipment, ordnance, munitions and so forth. It was rather cleverly done."

"The Chinese Nationalist Army got nothing or next to nothing in consequence of this Soviet withdrawal."

"And that put new life blood into the Chinese Communist Army because for the first time in several decades of its existence, it had the beginning of modern striking power."

This is first-hand information and testimony under oath. It has often been said that the Nationalists were deprived of supplies of modern arms and munitions during an American-made long truce, the Communists came into possession of the best equipment any army had in the Far East. They also were jockeyed into a favorable logistical position by the Russians whereas the Nationalists were held back in accordance with General George Marshall's concept of how to achieve peace in Manchuria.

History has a way of righting itself soon if it takes a very long time. Angus Ward may write a book on this subject one of these days and his personal, direct testimony will be added to the voluminous data that is accumulating to show why the United States muffed the ball in Asia.

Pa. he was such a fine baseball player that he was watched by big league scouts, but golf was his hobby and he had genuine tournament class, always shooting in the low seventies until past his sixtieth birthday. When we were in our thirties we chanced to meet him and he suggested a few golf holes, but he was then well along in years, we would be playing with an elderly divot digger. Sometime later we got into a foursome with "Father Tim" and were cut down to size. He was par or better much of the way and we were to find that on the toughest golf links he made laymen seem strictly bush league. At that time we had lacked a sense of direction in religion as well as on the links, and had been an Episcopalian, a Methodist, and Congregationalist over

One of the high dignitaries of the church, it was as "Father Tim" that he spent most of his 55 dedicated years as pastor of a famed East Side church in 14th St., working among the poor and the oppressed. He was a priest straight out of the script of the charming movie "Going My Way," lovable, understanding, broadminded, tolerant, devoted, hard working and good natured. "Father Tim," who died at 81, and had been in the church from boyhood, had one of the best-rounded characters we ever knew. Always a hard worker for his flock, he loved sports, and, until a few years ago, could play golf of championship quality.

TENSE MOMENT ON THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE GRIDIRON

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE

November Election Day Is Vital Date For All

How far ahead do you make dates? Would seven weeks seem too far ahead to commit yourself?

One important date falls on the first Tuesday in November. The sixth. Think you might make it?

We are all of us people with two types of interests—the intimate ones of family and friends we love, and the wider interests we feel as citizens of the country we love. We break dates, duck responsibilities, withhold affection, disavow, or betray either type of interest at our peril.

About 60 per cent of us who are qualified to vote do so. Why? Well, a few years ago the figure was only 40 per cent. At least this represents a big jump in the right direction. But still—why isn't it 100 per cent?

Perhaps because we are fond of alibis. Or that we don't fully appreciate how important we are as individuals, holding the right to express our convictions at voting time. Going to be out of town? Going to have a headache? Going to get wet in the rain? Going to nullify your neighbor's opposite ballots so why not the both of us stay home? Or just not interested in politics? — "It's all fixed, screwed up, under cover, and a plain ordinary citizen's vote doesn't mean much!"

Perhaps a case could be made for any or all of these petty excuses. Perhaps the nation will struggle along without our vote. It has somehow kept going with less than half, now a little better than half, of its actual voting potential. No, the country doesn't really need our vote. If we have a previous engagement more important than that awaiting us in the neighborhood precinct, or if voting is too much trouble—by all means, sit this one out.

But could it be that, more than our country needs us, we need to respond to the most valuable "right" we know? This is our chance to register what we believe. Ours is the opportunity for free expression almost incredible to the enslaved world and to some portions of the "free" world.

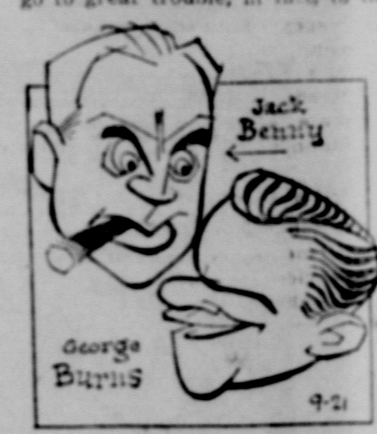

If we can't hitch a ride to the polls, they will send a car for us. If we can't leave the children, they will send a sitter. If we ache, they will feed us an aspirin. If it rains, they will hold an umbrella over our new hats. "They" are plain ordinary citizens like ourselves, except they care more than we do and are willing to make it easy for us to pull the levers of freedom. "They" have worked hard for what they believe, for whichever party more nearly coincides with their convictions. And for 12 hours on Tuesday, November 6, they will chauffeur, baby-sit, mind the store so we may be free to vote.

It was wrong to say the country, the candidates, don't need you and me. They do. But more than they need us, we need to keep that date—with ourselves.

National Strength Related To Degree Of Education

(Robert S. Allen is on vacation. In his absence, his column today is on the very timely and fascinating subject of how to avert student failures in college. Author of this intriguing column is Dr. August Dvorak, Professor of Education at the University of Washington, who has conducted some amazing and successful experiments in what he calls "Predicting College Success.")

By Dr. August Dvorak University of Washington Seattle, Wash., Sept. 17—The most valuable natural resource of any country is the superior mentalities of its youth. That natural resource, however, must be trained and developed if it is to be utilized.

The struggle between the East and the West highlights the importance of scientific and technological teaching and training at the college level. Masses of untrained persons create neither jet planes and nuclear guided missiles for war nor technological developments for health, better living conditions, and culture for peace.

Future wars are being fought now in colleges and universities. If there are to be peace-time developments in the next generation, and the next, their seeds must be germinating now in colleges and universities.

Superior mentalities are distributed among races and peoples in more or less random manner. Wealth, race, nationality or creed neither guarantee nor preclude mentally superior youth. But brilliant adults in any group or nation result only from the training given its superior youth.

In a real sense, national strength is closed related to the degree all its youth are educated and trained and its superior youth are utilized in those activities requiring superior mentalities.

It would seem that unconsciously our country has drifted into a dangerous condition when today there are not enough trained teachers for our elementary and high schools, when there is a shortage of competent and trained teachers for all our college positions, and when there is a shortage of doctors, dentists, engineers, mathematicians, physicists, bacteriologists and chemists.

Yet for the last thirty to fifty years our colleges have faced the dreary spectacle wherein thousands upon thousands of our best high school graduates have entered college but only about one third of them have been graduated.

Study after study has reported that only from 30 per cent to 40 per cent of freshmen who matriculated in state colleges and universities ever graduated. Some private colleges and universities with very selective admission requirements, often limiting matriculation to the top 25 per cent of high school graduates, report somewhat better records of graduation. About three-fourths of the 60 per cent to 70 per cent of the entering freshmen who withdrew from college before graduation, withdrew with probationary or sub-graduation records.

What is the explanation for only one out of three of our better high school graduates being able to satisfy college requirements for graduation? Much has been made of the alleged "gap" between high school and college. Much has been made of "orienting students to college." Staffs have been installed to "adjust students

Horns Depart For Trip To California

By Jim Riley

Rev. and Mrs. Edward T. Horn departed for California yesterday, during which trip they will receive a rest from their busy every-day duties.

Dr. Horn is the popular pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Tannersville. The long trip is one of the highlights of the year for the Horns, who will celebrate two big days while visiting a daughter and family in Sonoma, Calif.

Rev. and Mrs. Horn will celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary a week from today and Rev. Horn will pass his 69th birthday next Sunday, two days before the wedding anniversary.

The Horns are parents of eight children. Dr. Edward T. Horn Jr. and Frank live in Tannersville. They also have 22 grandchildren.

This column would like to join with their many friends in wishing Rev. and Mrs. Horn a fine trip and best wishes on their special days. Both have lived a full life. They were in Japan for 30 years, where they worked as missionaries. Rev. Horn, a graduate of Muhlenberg, accepted a charge at Jim Thorpe, then Mauch Chunk, after returning to the United States just before World War II. He became a professor and lecturer at Muhlenberg in 1946 and remained at that post until accepting the Tannersville Charge in 1952.

The Tannersville charge includes St. Mark's Appenzell, and St. John's, Scotrun.

Rev. Horn was graduated from Muhlenberg and the Lutheran Theological Seminary. In June Rev. Horn will have departed from the Allenstown college as a student, a half-century ago.

The Horns are busy people, but never too busy to lend a helping hand or give a needed lift along life's path.

They have lived full lives and have won many friends in all regions.

Since Rev. Horn and Mrs. Horn, the former Laura Rosseter, of Philadelphia, were married, they have formed an unbeatable team.

The Horns' knowledge of Japan is second to none in this region and their teachings have aided more than one serviceman who has found himself stationed in the Orient.

Yes, they've lived a full life. But, while living life to its fullest, they have also aided countless others in getting the most out of their time on this earth.

Good trip, good luck and good work. car industry, apparently, is definitely looking up.

Miss Gordon Is Bride Of R. K. Dennis

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Gordon, South Stroudsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Suzanne, to Robert Kline Dennis on Saturday afternoon, September 15. The simple ceremony was performed by Rev. John Bollier in the First Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg, in the presence of the immediate families. The reception dinner was held at Linden Court.

The bride's gown of white organdy tulle had a box-pleated skirt of late-day length. The long torso bodice and long sleeves were accented by rows of tiny buttons. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible with a single white orchid.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Jane Ifft, of Stroudsburg and Indiana, wore an afternoon dress of blue green tulle and carried a small colonial bouquet in shades of rust.

The bridegroom was attended by William Humphries, of Alden, Pa.

After a wedding trip through the New England States, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis will make their home at 3817 Huey Ave., Drexel Hill.

The bride was graduated from Stroudsburg High School in 1949 and completed nurses' training at the University of Pennsylvania in 1952. Since her graduation she has been surgical nurse at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital.

St. Matthew's PTA Has Talk On Discipline

St. Matthew's Parent-Teachers Association opened the year of activity on Monday night with a ham supper catered by Peter Margretta and assisted by Adolph Opiel to more than 75 people.

Rev. John F. Green, principal of West Stroudsburg Catholic High School was introduced by Mrs. Arthur Henning. He spoke on the discipline of children, urging that parents work together to maintain discipline. Such discipline should prove a point, not to please a child or relieve the anger of the parents. He quoted Bishop Fulton J. Sheen: "Give them a pat on the back often and low enough."

At the business meeting which followed, plans were discussed for a game party to be held in the school auditorium on September 20 directed by Charles Resch; for the membership drive now underway with Mrs. John Schmittman as chairman. Reports were given by Mrs. Arthur Blawie, auditing; Mrs. Arthur Henning, luncheon and Girl Scouts; Mrs. Jack Meyers, program.

The group also discussed safety rules which will go into effect immediately. Rev. Harold Durkin gave the opening and closing prayers.

Circle Meeting

Circle 7, East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles M. Fisher at 8 p.m., Thursday.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Fashion arbiters for men set a certain date when they are supposed to switch from straw hats to felt. Local women aren't governed by fashion arbiters but by a luncheon—the DAR luncheon which signals the opening of the club season.

And since the DAR opening luncheon is always a Constitution Day program, over the years I've somehow connected up the two in a sort of "stuck a feather in his cap" arrangement. Except it wasn't a feather but bright red poppies which the new regent wore on her white fur felt yesterday.

However, the members and their guests came away with a lot more important things than their hats in their heads—as everyone does after a talk by Dr. Koehler. And those of you who gripe that committee work always devolves on just a few people can take comfort in his story about the 70 odd delegates to the Constitutional Convention of whom 25 showed up, and a score did all the work. "About par for the course," he observed—and look what they did.

Par for the course, too, is the truism that you never meet a new word or a new person but you encounter them every time you turn around. I had never heard of Clinton, South Carolina, before Peter decided to go there.

Now, however, I discover that Roy Mikels' daughter, Mrs. Edwin Farnell, has been living there for four years, and very happy she was about it, too; that Ike Miller was born and bred ten miles from there; that Mrs. J. V. Nixon is now living about 20 miles away. Who says it's a small world.

Constitution Still 'Living' Koehler Says

A Robinson Crusoe, reading the Constitution of the United States for the first time, would be puzzled as to how this country elected its president. Dr. LeRoy Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, pointed out in his Constitution Day talk at the opening luncheon of Jacob Stroud Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, yesterday.

He used this illustration of the fact that it is a "living" constitution as compared with the rigid Roman-derived system of fixity of laws. The Constitution nowhere specifies such things as political parties, or national conventions, yet within its framework the American people have deepened the democratic process of Presidential elections, he said.

Tracing the history of the Constitution signed September 17, 1787, Dr. Koehler sketched the background of the makeshift government made necessary by the outbreak of the Revolution under the Second Continental Congress, and later under the Articles of Confederation. The contribution of the Maryland Doctrine providing for future admission of territories as new states was another landmark, he said.

He brought out important differences between the Constitution and the Articles of Confederation: giving the federal government power over the individuals and between sovereign states; allocating treaty and tariff rights to the federal government; and setting up a system of checks and balances.

Free democracy, as exemplified by town meetings, is impossible on a large scale. Parliamentary government, illustrated by England, subordinates its prime minister and his cabinet to the action of Parliament. Strongly centralized republics such as France and Mexico deprive communities of local pride and initiative.

The American system, while at times slow and unwieldy, is capable of meeting problems, he said. Quoting Dr. Koehler, compared it to a raft, uncomfortable but practically unsinkable.

"We may not like the discomfort, but with the alternative a dictatorship, I am glad that our feet are always in the water," he concluded.

The DAR has made considerable effort to stress Constitution Week. Mrs. Harold R. Flagler Jr., new regent of the chapter, hailed the story of the Constitution in The Daily Record written by Leonard Randolph, and announced that WYPO had been using spot announcement, and that window display and table prayers had been distributed.

Mrs. Irving R. Foltz, national defense chairman, in her five minute talk urged members to vote to their Congressional urging adoption of a Constitution Week. She also urged support of the Brinkley Amendment and retention of the McCarran-Walters act, and distributed pamphlets from the Civil Defense office.

Mrs. Flagler in her greeting announced that two members of Jacob Stroud had been named to state posts: Mrs. Harold C. Edwards, State chairman of the Pennsylvania luncheon; and Mrs. T. Manning Curtis, a member of the state Civil Defense Committee.

Year-books, prepared by Mrs. William Andrews and her committee and dedicated to Martha Corryell Hood, past regent, were distributed. A moment of tribute was paid to Mrs. Eleanor Bunn and Mrs. David Griffith, members who died this summer. Mrs. Ruth Learn spoke on the DAR magazine, and Mrs. Harry Warrick gave the invocation for the luncheon held in the dining hall at the YMCA.

The Eagles Ladies Shuffleboard Team will hold a hot dog roast on Wednesday night at 6:30 at the Eagles Home.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

CHANCE ENCOUNTER: Two of my favorite people, Lester and Diana Cohen, were in the store the other day after far too long away, and it gave me the opportunity to get some tidbits on the Democratic National Convention which Mr. Cohen had been assigned to cover for one of the leading national magazines.

An earnest student of history, Mr. Cohen tells me he's still writing pages and pages about the big jamboree, much of which has not yet been printed despite the thousands of columns of newspaper space already allotted it. One thing that surprised him, he tells me, was the difference in appearance between certain individuals as they actually are and as they appear on television. Adlai Stevenson, for instance, looks very light complexioned on the television screen, though he actually has the weathered, outdoor look of an Illinois farmer just in from the sunbaked fields. He reports too that the stamens of Eleanor Roosevelt, who bears her seventy-some years with grace and dignity, and can still stand for hours shaking the hands of some ten thousand people, is nothing short of miraculous.

"I guess Mrs. Roosevelt's red, white and blue hat aroused almost as much discussion as many of the 'issues at stake,'" I laughed. "Some of the commentators had a field day describing it."

Mr. Cohen agreed. "But whatever they said," he declared emphatically, "I LIKED it—and I don't usually care for women's hats. To me it was the most wearable hat at the convention for keeping a short blonde under control, and the lady herself was a revelation of charm."

I didn't have time to mention our Hudson River cruise of next Monday the 24th to the Cohens, but I am certain they would think it a splendid opportunity for residents of this area to visit two revered American shrines — West Point and Hyde Park.

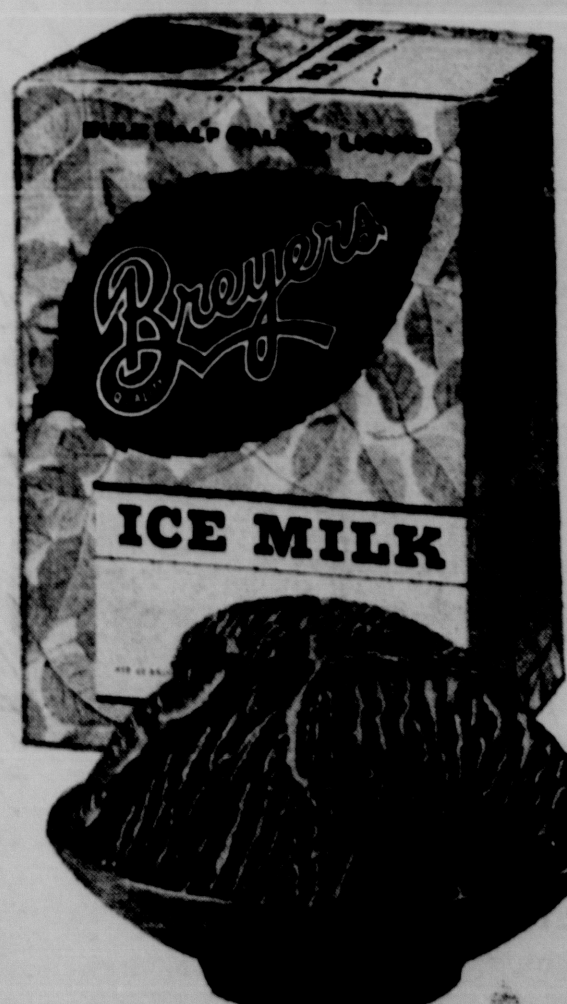

During one of our meetings when Lester Cohen was discussing American history and politics generally, he mentioned his first visit to Hyde Park, made without preliminary planning when he just happened to be driving through that section of New York State. It was mid-winter, and snowing, yet there were cars from all over the nation parked near the Roosevelt home, and silent watchers clustering in reverent interest about the grave. This visit proved, as perhaps nothing else could have, the impact upon the average citizen of the personality that had upset tradition and seen the four-times election to the presidency of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Mr. Cohen's interest in all phases of our history is boundless. He is writing a book about George Washington, touching upon facets of the first President's life that are little known. He long ago collaborated on the first biography of Billy Mitchell, and his commentary on the Civil War and the great personalities of that era is fascinating. He, and his equally gifted wife, who has had an interesting association with the Walt Disney studios and is as versatile as her husband, are undoubtedly among the most talented of the comparative newcomers to our county.

Incidentally, tickets for our Hudson River trip are now on sale in the Wyckoff gift wrap center. Tickets to Hyde Park are an additional 2.00 and must be purchased before the store closes at 5:30 this Saturday.

Dulles Denies Finance Plan

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Dulles says after conference with President Eisenhower that United States has no plans to finance a detour of Suez Canal; says present U. NEW DELHI — Authoritative sources report President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden told Prime Minister Nehru they are going ahead with users' scheme despite Indian opposition.

Monroe County Brings National Civil Defense Week To Close With 'Fall Out' Pamphlets

NATIONAL CIVIL Defense Week came to a dramatic conclusion in Monroe County Saturday when "fall out" pamphlets were dropped from airplanes flying over various parts of the twin boroughs.

County C-D Director Fred W. Davis said the mass distribution from the air was intended to symbolize atomic radiation fall-out that would rain upon the area if a hydrogen bomb was exploded.

Judge Davis said local observance of C-D Week proved to be "a highly successful undertaking."

"An elaborate and fully developed program was carried through to a very successful climax," the director said. "The observance, both from the standpoint of the number of C-D workers that took part and the results accomplished, was all that could be desired."

"Civil Defense Week brought home to the people of this county the part they could be expected to play in event of disaster," he continued. "They know that they now have a C-D organization that is fully prepared to go into action at once, when the occasion demands."

"Many volunteers were added to the roster of Civil Defense during the week and a training program was launched for the winter season that will benefit the county immeasurably," the judge said further.

During the week, radio programs were broadcast over WVPO, which presented C-D workers, coordinators and staffs of the various divisions to the public.

Exhibits also were featured. They were composed of displays, photos and literature showing C-D in action. Thousands of booklets also were distributed throughout the county.

Highlights of the week were the boat and fire drills held a week ago last night. Programs also were presented in the schools of the county, and an exhibit and demonstration were held on Main St. in Stroudsburg Saturday.

Prayer Rooms Would Help

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 17.—City Halls should have prayer rooms "to provide a quiet place to which we can withdraw to seek Divine strength and guidance in public affairs," Russell E. McClure of Corpus Christi, Tex., said today.

He was delivering the keynote address as president of the 42nd annual conference of the International City Managers' Assn.

Amazing Power
"Creative, spiritual thinking and prayer have amazing power to give right answers," he told the 750 delegates and wives from the United States and Canada.

Professional men responsible for the government of more than 1,000 cities and towns in the two countries must always operate efficiently and for the good of their citizens, McClure added.

A prayer room in a City Hall would provide those responsible with a sanctuary "to have a calm, objective look at every problem that is presented to us," he said.

Farm Income On Upswing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The Agriculture Department reported today that net farm income—a possible barometer of farm state political climate—appears to be on the upswing.

Prices
Prices received by farmers during the first eight months of this year averaged 2 per cent below last year. However, a heavier volume of marketing brought a 20 per cent increase in farm receipts. Farm operating costs, the department said, continued to run higher than a year ago.

Fritz had previously announced that the Prep Band would play, but plans have been now made to give the public the chance to see the Yellow Jackets in action, before they enter a number of competitions within the next several weeks. It was also reported that the Prep Band would play at the following week's contest, when East Stroudsburg will be entertained on the Bangor Park Field.

The senior band of the Joint High School has been hard at work for the past two weeks, and according to Fritz will make its first appearance of the year during the Catsaqua contest. The band this year is composed of some 65 musicians plus a band front of 12 majorettes and twirlers.

BILLY SOMMERS who was headed for Moravian College at Bethlehem has changed his mind and has enrolled at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College instead.

Sommers, who was a three-letter man at East Stroudsburg High School, will forego football at the Normal Hill school and concentrate on baseball mainly.

The switch of Bill to the Warriors' teepee also will enable the local boy to take his regular turn on the mound for the Strouds when the Frank Radler - nine takes on Saylorsburg next Sunday on the Lakers field in the second game of the Pocono Mountain League's semi-final playoffs.

Answer to East Stroudsburg fan - Frank and Charley Lupin, backfield men on the Cavaliers' eleven are brothers. Charley, the younger of the two boys, played Little League baseball in East Stroudsburg.

Ray Pensyl, who bowls for Gem Lunch in the Monroe County League, opened the 1956-57 campaign with complete disregard for past records when he rolled 569 on opening night. Considering Ray's 157 average for last season, this is quite a move in the right kegling direction.

The Monroe Classic also had its share of good games and series in their inaugural last week. Notable among the top leggers was a 628 triple, including a 215, 211 and 202 by Jim Harmon Jr. of the Bill Altier team.

Jack Darr, anchor man on the Red Top Tavern outfit, came home with a 591.

Altier's pinsters rolled up a 1001 score in a singleton as Dick Andrews, Louis Lee, Frank Starnier, Harmon Jr., and Tom Sommers had individual counts of 213, 216, 156, 211 and 206 respectively.

In the Commercial "B" opening, Dr. Gail Feagley, No. 5 man on Frank's The Barber crew, tossed a 254 single and a 634 three-game set to lead all bowlers in the circuit in the loop's getaway games.

Jerry Fritz, former Stroudsburg High baseball player and ex-Saylorsburg of the Pocono Mountain League luminary, who is an instructor at the Army's Ft. Gordon, Ga., is getting his share of sports in while on his tour of service duty.

One of Jerry's students, and he thinks very highly of him, is Tom Gola, everybody's All-America basketball player while at LaSalle who went on to greater fame and glory as the rookie of the year with the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

Jerry considered Gola one of the best students he's come in contact with while teaching for 18 months at Ford Gordon.

Jerry, incidentally came up with Harry Warner's official batting average for Charlotte of the Sally League.

Harry, who was recently sold to the Washington Senators, hit .267 for the season, striking out 12 doubles, eight triples and eight homers and knocked in 48 runs. He also was walked 78 times. He was in 98 games, had 66 runs, 86 hits for 322 times at bat.

One of Jerry's circuit blows which was hit at Augusta, Ga., went over the center field fence, a feat accomplished only once before this year.

The injury to Ron Stopp, Stroudsburg High School quarterback, is not as serious as first preliminary examination indicated. Stopp, who was brought down from behind after a 54-yard gallop against Lehigh in the Mountaineers football inaugural suffered a bruised back when his loose hip pad dug into his back.

Stopp rejoined his mates yesterday for a light drill and has a good chance of seeing action when the Mountaineers come up against Emmaus at the Green Hornets nest Friday.

It was ironic that a Stroudsburg player should get hurt on the game's longest run. Although Stopp didn't score on the jaunt it set up the Mountaineers' third and apparently clinching TD.

Furillo's 20th Homer In 10th Margin Of 5-4 Dodger Victory

By Joe Reichler
BROOKLYN, Sept. 17 (AP) — Carl Furillo, Brooklyn's chips-down old pro, banged his 20th home run to lead off the 10th inning tonight to give the National League leading Dodgers a 5-4 victory over third-place Cincinnati. The Redlegs had tied the score at 4-all with back-to-back home runs by Ed Bailey and pinch hitter Ray Jablonski with two out in the ninth.

No Holiday For Bangor High Eleven

BANGOR — It was no holiday from the wars yesterday afternoon for the Slate Pickers of Bangor Area High School as Coach Gracie Evans ordered heavy practice sessions. With all hands in good condition following Saturday's encounter with Palmerston, Coach Evans and his assistant Paul Wagner and Dakey Pritchard, endeavor to iron out the rough spots of the Palmerston fracas.

Two slight injuries, one to quarterback, J. L. Williams, who suffered a leg strain and center Frankie Butz, who came up with a bruised ankle watched the action yesterday afternoon, but it is expected they will suit up today for light practice.

Mill Returns
The stocks of the Slate Pickers went up somewhat yesterday afternoon as Bob Hill, veteran guard, who did not see action in Saturday's tussle reported for practice in good condition after his late return to school. Rumors are also being heard that per-chance, veteran ends Mike Danko, and Sam Heard, who did not report for the grid wars so far this season may return in a few days to bolster the team.

Nothing official was forthcoming last evening on the return of Danko and Heard but should they return it would be a big lift for the green line now sported by the Slats.

More Expected
More is expected of the linemen, Coach Evans indicated last evening when he stated that he felt, the line could have given a much better account of itself then it had. He was particularly disappointed with the showing of the tackles and ends and they were under fire in yesterday's rehearsals for the Catsquaw invasion on Friday evening.

The victory, fourth in a row for the Dodgers, gave the world champions a full-game lead over second-place Milwaukee with 11 games remaining. Milwaukee, two games shy in the lost column, lost a half game by splitting a two-night doubleheader against the New York Giants. Cincinnati is four games behind in the race.

Furillo, Brooklyn's 34-year-old right fielder who had singled home two runs in the first inning, lined the break-up homer off Brooks Lawrence, who had come on as Cincinnati's third pitcher in the ninth inning and had kept the Brooks scoreless after some difficulty.

Reds' Comeback
Cincinnati's last of the ninth comeback ruined a dandy starting role by Clem Labine, Brooklyn's relief ace. He had checked the hard-swinging Redlegs on six hits until the ninth and retired 15 in a row before getting tagged for a single by Wally Post in the ninth. Then Bailey jolted his 26th home run atop the scoreboard in right-field and Don Bessent came on in relief.

Jablonski, hitting for Rocky Bridges, greeted Bessent, who hadn't allowed a home run in 53 1/3 innings over a 25 game stretch back to June 28, with his 15th homer. It hit the left-field seats to tie it up.

Bessent then walked two before getting Johnny Temple to hit into an inning-ending force out. Lawrence now is 19-10.

Carl Erskine, reduced to relief status with Labine's promotion as a starter, took the victory for a 13-9 record. He relieved Bessent in the 10th following a single by Bell and a walk to Robinson with none out and retired the side.

Giants Chill Braves Hopes With Split

By Jack Hand
NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — Home runs by Billy Bruton, Jack Dittmer and Ed Mathews brought Milwaukee's second-place Braves a 4-1 nightcap victory tonight against New York after southpaw Johnny Antonelli, hitting a two-run homer and giving just six hits, had gained a 7-2 Giants' victory in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

Spahn's 18th
Southpaw Warren Spahn, gaining his 18th victory of the season and 201st in the majors, put down the Giants on nine hits in the second game, ending a three-game Milwaukee losing string.

Only Hurler
Spahn, the only Milwaukee pitcher to go the distance and win in 16 games stretching back to Labor Day when Lew Burdette beat Cincinnati in the first game of a doubleheader, struck out six and walked five. Spahn went 12 innings to win his 200th at Philadelphia last Thursday in the second game of a two-nighter.

Antonelli, winning his 17th of the season and fourth in a row, retired the first 10 men he faced and allowed just 5 hits before rain caused a 47-minute delay as the Braves came to bat in the first game eighth.

The Giants got rid of starter Gene Conley, now 8-9, in the second inning.

McAtee weighed 160, Luedee 164 1/2.

It was the 24-year-old Briton's American debut and he made it an impressive and popular one with his game, strong comeback over his 6-foot rival.

Possinger Tops Nemesis In Speed Race

PERTH AMBOY, N.J. — Elmer Possinger, Stroudsburg motorboat speed chauffeur, finally caught up with his old racing nemesis here Sunday when he captured the "D" Utility classic at the first annual Perth Amboy Regatta here.

Possinger, who lives in South Stroudsburg, drove his Mercury-powered Speed Zephyr to wins in the two five-mile events to grab off the regatta's top honors.

Won Over
The Stroudsburg boatman beat out James Ware, of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., who came in second, and Al Pontius, of Sunbury, Pa., who has led Possinger across the finish line in many of the east's outstanding motorboat racing events this year.

Comeback Race
It was actually a comeback race for Possinger who turned over in a race on the Hudson River last week when his boat ran flush into a wave.

Bills totaling $800 also were ordered paid.

Browns Won't Repeat In NFL - Brown

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17 (AP) — Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns, said today he doesn't think his team can repeat as champions of the National Football League, mostly because he hasn't found a passer to replace retired Otto Graham.

"We'll have to be grateful for any victory," Brown told a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity. "They'll be few and far between."

The Browns have lost five straight exhibition games. Last year they lost exhibitions, too, until Graham came out of retirement and rejoined the team. He says he's not coming back this time.

Not Just Motions
"If you think we're just going through the motions in these exhibitions, you're wrong," Brown told the newsmen. "We're going to have to sink or swim on what we have."

Martin Marks 15th ESSTC Coaching Year Saturday; Sees Wide Open STC Race

EUGENE MARTIN will embark on his 15th coaching year at East Stroudsburg Teachers College Saturday and the veteran football mentor will probably run into his stiffest competition this season since taking over the reigns at Normal Hill.

Saturday at Millersville, the Warrior grid proteges of Martin open the 1956 season against Millersville STC in the first of a rugged eight-game schedule which includes six with Keystone Teachers Conference foes.

Dotted with veterans with a senior atmosphere, East Stroudsburg has been going through intensive training the past three weeks in hopes of sharpening up for its Millersville inaugural.

The Warriors climaxed heavy work Saturday in a full scale scrimmage session with Temple University's Owls. And Martin, who generally is on the pessimistic side, "liked what he saw."

"We did more than alright," the Hill grid boss commented. "Of course, we need a lot of work in polishing up our short punt offense. But considering the short time we've had in practice, the over-all results of the Owl-duel was gratifying," he said.

Nip And Tuck
Commenting on the season, especially pin-pointing STC League foes, Martin feels the race for the top rung is wide open. "This will be a nip and tuck affair," he noted. "From what I've seen and heard, all the schools are capable of fielding a representative eleven," he concluded.

In the pre-season drills, Martin has been more than pleased with the work of several newcomers. Notable among these is end Dave Adams, a 6-foot, 195-pounder from Woodbridge, N. J. Adams, a sophomore, is pushing hard for a first string berth.

Freshman Qb
Another new addition who is expected to give strength to the team's offense is Bobby Barrett, of Neshaun, Barrett, a 165-pound freshman, is fighting Jim Oplinger, Northampton, and Don DeFranco, Bangor for the quarterback post.

Martin is well fortified at the end post with Charley German, Whitehall; Penndel, Al Holman and Danannon's Wilmont Smith. At tackle he has Walt Bjorn, of Damascus; Jack Andrews, Free-mansburg, and Dick Alger, Lehigh-ton. All three boys hit the 200-pound mark.

Leading the battle for guard positions are Frank Krystinik, Scranton; Stan Serfass, Easton; Joe Costello, Jessup, and Al Colasich, Spotswood, N. J. Warren Davis heads the aspirants for center. Davis, who hails from Maplewood, N. J., is getting stiff opposition from Bill Yeomans, of West Pittston, and J. DeEch, of Emmaus.

Veteran Spotted
The backfield is spotted with veterans to go along with signal-callers Oplinger, Barrett, and DeFranco. In the tailback slot Gary Keller, of Hummelstown, and Guido (Geetz) D'Ortigue, South Orange, N. J., seem to have the inside track for the key running post.

East Stroudsburg's Dick Merring and Allentown's Dick Biehn lead a quartet seeking the o her halfback berth. However, another aspirant Whitehall's Dick Merkley is coming along at a fast clip and will see plenty of action before the season is over.

At fullback, East Greenfield's Denny Roth, Ephrata's Les Brubaker and Doyle's own Ken Haber all seem to have a chance to crack the opening lineup.

Still In Running
Other backs still in the running for regular positions are Pen Argyl's Don Carbone, Freesterville's Earl Faunce and Bangor's Tom Cascano.

East Stroudsburg's offense will feature single and double reverses, spinners, and dive plays, with a majority coming off delayed setups.

Cavalier JVs Lose Inaugural
burg High's junior varsity football team dropped a 12-0 decision to Hellertown in a grid inaugural for both schools here yesterday.

The Little Panthers outplayed the Cavalier underlings in all departments to dominate the contest.

Odds Against Ted Winning Bating Title

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — Ted Williams has a .352 batting average with 364 times at bat. Mickey Mantle is at .250. Each has 10 games left to play.

That's the picture of the competition for the American League batting title. But on closer examination, Mantle appears to be in a better position to win his first championship.

Here's why:
1. Williams must bat higher than Mantle as well as finish the campaign with a minimum of 400 official at bats. Mantle has been to the plate 512 times.

2. Six of Williams' remaining games will be against New York. And the Boston Red Sox' Thumper is hitting only .222 against the Yankees with 8 hits in 36 trips.

3. Mantle, on the other hand, shows a .373 against Red Sox pitching with 19 safeties in 51 trips.

Comes On
Williams, a four-time batting champ, has come on strong in the past couple of weeks. Last week alone he gained 8 points, collecting 11 hits in 24 trips. Mantle, meanwhile, fell 5 points with 6-for-25 while dropping from the top spot Friday night for the first time this season.

The Yankees' slugging switch-hitter upped his pace-setting home run total to 49 by walloping a pair last week. He also drove in three runs, giving him 121 for the campaign. He is, however, being closely followed by Al Kaline in the ERI department. The Detroit star has 118.

In the National League, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee led the National League in batting by an eight-point margin going into tonight's twi - night doubleheader against the Giants.

Aaron dropped one point to 327 last week but Pittsburgh's Bill Virdon, in second place, also lost a single point to 319.

Wally Moon of St. Louis and Red Schoendienst of New York are deadlocked for third place at 315.

The senior circuit's home-run and runs-batted-in races probably will go right down to the wire.

Frank Robinson of Cincinnati, who set a major league record for first year men by slugging his 38th four-bagger, is deadlocked for the lead with Brooklyn's Duke Snider. Joe Adcock of Milwaukee is a close third with 27.

Rifle-Toting Grandmother Declares Truce

BLACKSTONE, Mass., Sept. 17 (AP)—A rifle-toting great grandmother laid aside her gun today and described a truce in her blockade of a new highway.

Mrs. Kornelia Zariczny, 72, claims the new road was built across her farm without compensation for the land.

The blockade goes to the courts tomorrow when Mrs. Zariczny said she agreed to appear voluntarily before Judge Edwin F. McCooley.

Blackstone and state police are to be there too, to apply for complaints.

First Time Mrs. Zariczny first blocked the road Saturday. She said the town asked her for some of her land so the road could be widened two feet on each side.

Instead, she said, when the mile and a half stretch of new road was built, 600 feet of it cut straight across her land to eliminate a curve.

Mrs. Zariczny blocked the road with a sign reading "The state of Mass. did not pay for this land. They took it. Detour. Keep out."

Hoover Sent To County Jail

BRUCE D. HOOVER, 28, of Canadensis, has been committed to the Monroe County Jail in default of $500 bail set by Justice of the Peace Elmer P. Bean on a charge of driving while his license was suspended.

Hoover was arrested by East Stroudsburg Police after his car was involved in a collision with another vehicle operated by Richard Hayes, 75 Burton St., at the intersection of Day St. and Lenox Ave., Sunday night.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17 (AP)—Gov. Leader today named these five persons to the Valley Forge Park Commission:

Auto Dealer

Sayres was a Seattle automobile dealer who had built and raced small boats, from outboards to light inboards. He was almost unknown, even locally, when he introduced the Sio-Mo to the world in 1950 by cracking the world speed record with a mile dash at 160 miles per hour.

Two years later Sayres took the Sio-Mo out on the wind-chopped lake and raised the record to 178.497 m.p.h.

But her real fame came as a racing craft. Sayres took her to Detroit in 1950 and won the Gold Cup and the International Harmsworth Trophy. For the next five years he dominated the field, bringing along the Sio-Mo-Shun V as a sister ship and Gold Cup winner.

His widow, Madeline, found her husband dead in his bed at their Lake Washington home at 6:10 a.m.

Only yesterday sorrowing crowds viewed the shattered hull of the speedboat that made Sayres famous, the Sio-Mo-Shun IV. She cracked up and sank during time trials for the Gold Cup race last month in Detroit, injuring her driver, Joe Taggart.

Hobbiest Who Gave New Look To Speedboat Racing Dies

SEATTLE, Sept. 17 (AP)—Stanley S. Sayres, 60, whose hobby set Seattle afire with speedboat fanaticism and brought a new look to powerboat racing, died today of a heart attack.

His widow, Madeline, found her husband dead in his bed at their Lake Washington home at 6:10 a.m.

Only yesterday sorrowing crowds viewed the shattered hull of the speedboat that made Sayres famous, the Sio-Mo-Shun IV. She cracked up and sank during time trials for the Gold Cup race last month in Detroit, injuring her driver, Joe Taggart.

Gas Company Ready To Supply Needs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—A pipe line company official said today natural gas would be available from his firm for the Scranton and Wilkes-Barre areas of Pennsylvania.

Harold Barrow of Houston, Tex., senior vice president of the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., said his company would be willing and able to sell natural gas to the Scranton-Spring Brook Water Service Co.

He testified at a power commission hearing on an application by Scranton-Spring Brook to pipe gas to Scranton and Wilkes-Barre.

The Pennsylvania company proposes to build a line connection with Tennessee's main line.

Attorneys at the hearing, expected to end tomorrow, cross-examined other witnesses, including Rulison Evans of Wilkes-Barre, board chairman and president of Scranton-Spring Brook.

Representative

Jerome McGrath, representing the Anthracite Institute and the United Mine Workers Union, challenged Evans' testimony that introduction of natural gas in the coal producing areas would be beneficial instead of harmful.

McGrath said Evans' company now is using coal to produce manufactured gas and that a UMW witness had testified natural gas would hurt the mining industry by displacing coal.

Evans insisted gas would bring new industries to Pennsylvania and relieve unemployment.

McGrath asked whether coal hasn't been satisfactory in the production of manufactured gas now handled by the company.

Evans said it has not been satisfactory. He said the company has been unable to get coal of uniform size and quality and had to stockpile it to assure an adequate supply.

He conceded "We have never been without coal, but we have been close to it."

Asked if the company is unwilling to "pay the price for high grade coal," Evans replied: "That is ridiculous. We've been paying list price for the best coal."

Coal has proved to be unsatisfactory, Evans said, the company may have to raise its gas rates unless natural gas can be obtained.

McGrath asked whether subsidizing of ground as a result of mining would pose any new threat to the people if gas were piped in. He said state officials now are investigating cave-ins in Scranton.

"Pardon me for laughing," Evans said, "That happens every time there's a change in administration."

Once again investors appeared reluctant to commit themselves in the midst of the Suez Canal developments.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 50 cents at $181.60 after standing unchanged at noon. The Industrial component closed off 70 cents, rails off $1.20 and utilities up 20 cents.

CARE At 20 Million

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The 1956 CARE food crusade will reach 20 million hungry people in 19 countries. The foodstuffs in five million CARE packages — each weighing 22 pounds — were provided by the U. S. Department of Agriculture out of America's farm surplus.

This view was given to a House Ways and Means subcommittee by Willard L. Thorp, professor of economics at Amherst College, Amherst, Mass. Thorp was deputy assistant secretary of state for economic affairs in 1946.

"I would like to suggest," Thorp testified, "that it is doubtful whether any extensive embargo has much security significance any longer."

Policy

The embargo policy forced the Communists to develop their own production of the embargoed items, he said, adding:

"Today, the military positions of the free world and the Soviet bloc are probably affected very little by the volume of trade between them."

Thorp said restrictions on sale of vital goods was an "important policy" in the early stages of the West's military buildup.

Now, he said, the Soviet economic offensive has given the embargo policy an entirely new aspect.

He said that while Soviet offers to trade with non-Communist nations are politically motivated, they nonetheless "will have a strong attraction" to the countries involved.

If these Western nations "feel the trade limitations sponsored by the United States are no longer justified, a major source of friction will be created," Thorp said. He added:

"I am not arguing that there be no East-West limitations, but I am suggesting that it is in our interest to review our policy in the light of the security situation today."

"It may be that some relaxation is possible, thus reducing the area of potential conflict between ourselves and the other countries of the free world."

Thorp was among economic experts testifying at the start of hearings on what Chairman Boggs (D-La.) called "grave problems" facing the United States in the field of foreign economic policy.

Harvard

Edward S. Mason, dean of the graduate school of public administration at Harvard University, told the committee that U. S. trade with other Western countries is closely linked with foreign aid.

In this connection he outlined his views on a "trade not aid" policy.

He said it would require "a very drastic reduction in U. S. trade barriers—going far beyond anything I should be prepared to defend—to increase imports by one billion dollars, which represents a very small fraction of our current aid program."

To adopt a "trade not aid" policy, Mason testified, probably would channel no more than "a few hundred millions" to foreign nations.

Mason said that with one exception, the argument for tariff protection on security grounds was weak.

He said oil was the exception, especially since the Suez Canal crisis developed. Mason said lowering of oil import restrictions would reduce incentives for developing reserves for emergency use in this country, and would therefore seem inadvisable.

Rotary Club To Host Governor

MOUNT POCONO—Rotary Club of Mount Pocono today will be host to Corey E. Patton, Governor of the 262nd District of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 37 Rotary Clubs in Northeastern Pennsylvania. He will address the local club and confer with president, Paul Asure, secretary Jack O'Neill and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Governor Patton is assistant general manager, Wilkes-Barre Transit Corporation in Wilkes-Barre and is a member and past president of the Rotary Club in Wilkes-Barre. He has long been identified with the Pennsylvania National Guard (now holding the rank of Colonel) and has been active in military and veterans affairs in Wyoming Valley for many years. He was elected as a district governor of Rotary International for the 1956-57 fiscal year at Rotary's 47th Annual Convention in Philadelphia last June. He is one of 248 district governors supervising the activities of more than 9,100 Rotary clubs which have a membership of 431,000 business and professional executives in 99 countries throughout the free world.

Activities

Wherever Rotary clubs are located, Paul Asure asserted, in discussing the Governor's visit — their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Mount Pocono because they are based on the same general objectives — developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in number and in strength, Asure added. During the past fiscal year, 351 new Rotary clubs were organized in 48 countries of North, South and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa and the Islands of the Pacific and seven countries were added to Rotary's roster — Angola, Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Netherlands New Guinea, Ruanda-Urundi and Swaziland.

Society Begins Search

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has begun a search for "the unknown half-million" — persons who are going blind and don't know it. The 500,000 persons are victims of glaucoma — a disease which builds up pressure within the eye and gradually takes eyesight away.

Steel Strikes May Be At End

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17 (AP)—Nationwide strikes in the basic steel industry no longer may be necessary, United Steelworkers of America said today in a report prepared for the organization's convention starting here tomorrow. The no-more-strike hope, the report said, "is based on our conviction that the future of union-management relations lies along the path of widening areas of understanding and a growing sense of the common interests and mutual responsibilities of both labor and management for the welfare of the nation as a whole."

Your future health can be good or bad, depending on what you are doing now to protect it. If, when illness strikes, you delay seeking the skilled advice of your physician, you expose yourself to complications that later in your life may torment you.

Nature sends you pain or discomfort to warn you that something is wrong. Self treatment drugs that temporarily relieve that pain or discomfort, may hide a trouble that can become serious. Be wise. At the first sign of illness get your physician's advice and let him treat the real cause of your trouble.

Display Advertising Copy

DEADLINES

Advertising copy deadlines, just as news copy deadlines, are necessary . . . in fact, are imperative to the publication of a newspaper.

Enforcement of deadlines makes it possible to give readers a better newspaper, delivered on schedule. A better newspaper, promptly delivered to all sections of the trading area, means a better advertising medium.

It follows that adequate time for the proper handling of advertising copy, without interference with the mechanics of news production . . . and without jeopardizing the "on time" delivery of the newspaper . . . permits the better handling of advertising copy to work to the advantage of the advertiser in a better advertising medium.

In the interest of better serving ALL advertisers, all copy for display advertising, including CLASSIFIED DISPLAY, must meet the following deadlines:

Monday Copy.....5 P.M. Friday
Tuesday Copy.....12 Noon Saturday
Wednesday Copy.....5 P.M. Monday
Thursday Copy.....5 P.M. Tuesday
Friday Copy.....5 P.M. Wednesday
Saturday Copy.....5 P.M. Thursday
(Holiday Intervening—5 P.M. 3 days before publication)

When Proof Is Required
Prior To Publication of the Ad

The Deadline Is Noon
(Instead of 5 P.M.) on the days indicated above
